

Little Squaw Gold Mining Featured on “Steve Crowley’s American Scene”

Spokane, WA, June 25, 2007 - Performance-oriented investors have been tuning into “Steve Crowley’s American Scene” on the Business Talk Radio Network for the past 17 years in search of superior investment ideas. Little Squaw Gold Mining (LITS/OTCBB - $1.00) is currently being featured on the show, which airs weekdays from 9:00 AM to 12:00 Noon (EST) and Saturdays from 6:00 PM to 7:00 PM. The firm will be featured through mid-October.

“American Scene” regularly reaches some 3,000,000 dedicated listeners over the airwaves, and a significant additional audience via streaming audio on the Worldwide Web. To find an affiliate station that carries “American Scene” in your area, simply navigate to www.businesstalkradio.net and enter your zip code.

“American Scene” is known for both its entertainment flair and for distilling pertinent information about featured companies like Little Squaw into actionable concepts based upon Mr. Crowley’s investment insights. The topics selected by “American Scene” target a large and expanding audience of independent investors who seek high-voltage ideas and are capable of assessing both risk and reward to achieve their financial goals.

The content of “American Scene” is determined exclusively by the show’s producers; however, the segments dealing with Little Squaw Gold Mining are expected to highlight the fact that the firm is:

- dedicated to building value through gold deposit discovery
- overseen by managers and directors responsible for discovering billions of dollars worth of precious metals deposits -- including two major gold deposits (Pogo and Fort Knox) in Alaska and the richest silver deposit (Mina Martha, Argentina) in the world
- delineating significant gold deposits on its flagship Chandalar property
- acquiring additional properties with significant discovery potential in the Americas
- beginning to attract the attention of the large pool of sophisticated investors who are drawn to underappreciated value

Experienced investors understand that the greatest value in precious-metals investments is realized by those who recognize potential early and position themselves to maximize the positive impact of significant discovery announcements.
